TACHC 32nd Annual Conference Weather Notice

4:30pm, Friday, October 23, 2015

We have received numerous calls asking about Hurricane Patricia and its possible impact on TACHC's Annual Conference scheduled October 25-28, 2015 in Houston.

At this time, the conference and meetings preceding the conference on Sunday, October 25th will proceed as scheduled.

We received the following information from the Westin Galleria and Westin Oaks Hotels:

We are monitoring the weather closely, and will keep everyone up to date as we find out more information. As of now, it looks like it will hit Houston around 7 PM tomorrow and dissipate. The brunt of the storm will be in Mexico, but we still expect rain. The roads should be clear for your travels to Houston.

We will post any updated information on the TACHC website and on TACHC's Facebook and Twitter pages.

Up to date weather information is available from the National Weather Service or other sites such as The Weather Channel or Weather Underground.

As always, take proper safety precautions and do not travel if you feel unsafe.
