

North Central Texas Community Health Care Center Receives Accreditation from The Joint Commission

The Community Healthcare Center in Wichita Falls was awarded accreditation Thursday, June 27th, 2013 for streamlining services and meeting The Joint Commission requirements to become the first and only facility in the region designated as a Patient-Centered Medical Home (PCMH). The Joint Commission is an independent, not-for-profit organization that accredits and certifies more than 20,000 health care organizations and programs in the United States. Their accreditation and certification reflects an organization's commitment to meeting certain performance standards. The center, which already has an ambulatory care accreditation from the respected nonprofit focused on improving quality patient care, has worked for about two years to meet the PCMH criteria. Congratulations Community Healthcare Center!
